The Buchanan Romance & poiled.

Boston, September 19th.—Three weeks ago a journal of this city published a special dispatch from Philadelphia, giving what purported to be a record of Mrs. Jacobs, a once beautiful and wealthy woman, who has just died in the Philadelphia Almshouse. In this dispatch was a statement, since widely copied, that Mrs. Jacobs, among her numerous conquests, included James Buchanau. The journal in question published yesterday an indigdant denial, sent by George Tyner Curtis, on behalf of relatives and executors of the ex-President, in which he says: "It is due to the truth of h story and to the memory of Mr. Buchanau, that this slander should be denied now, lest, it being allowed to go uncontradicted, silence should give it the sembiance of truth. The story has been given wide publicity, and both decenoy and truth demand that it should be firmly met and denied. In behalf of our town's good name, the people and their descendante, among whom Mr. Buchanan spent his life, I pronounce this story, in whole and is detail, a vile slander. Mr. Buchanan's private life was pure and unstained, and especially so far as any acquaintance with this woman was concerned." The Buchanan Romance Spoiled.

The Kemlo Tragedy. New York, September 19th.—The tragedy in which Rev. James Kemlo killed his wife and then himself was a fearfully bloody affair. Keralo was a successful minister, but his blood became tainted with malar ia, which made him erazy. In the room in which the tragedy occurred the walls, furniture, bedding and everything was bespattered with blood from the bodies of the two unfortunates. The deed was done with a large butcher-knife. The woman evidently fought for her life, and made a most desperate struggle. Her hands and arms were most fearfully cut, in addition to the death wound in her throat. Both died soon after. The tragedy created the wildest excitement in the neighborhood. SHEBYVILLE (Ind.), September 19th.—St. Paul, a village ten miles from here, was the seene this evening of a fierce encounter between Silas Favars and James McCool. The men were having a trial before a Justice of the Peace over some trivial matter, and the case was continued till to-morrow. As they were leaving the Court-room, McCool drew are-volver and fired at Favars. The first shot took effect, but was returned. The fusilade was kept up for a minute, each man firing five or six times. One half from McCool's revolver struck Favars in the stomach, producing a fatal wound. McCool immediately fied, and no clue has been obtained as to his whereabouts. Favars was married to a daughter of whereabouts. London, September 19th.—The Times, in tracing the antecedents of O'Domell, finds that he is 45 years of age, a native of Mericiadly, County Donegal, Ireland, and that he has been to America several times. He served in the American war, lived for some time in Philadelphia, and kept a public house on the Canadian border. He invested his funds in silver mines and in Fenian bonds, and lost his money. He returned to Ireland in May, and frequented the company of Irish-Americans in Londonderry. He carried a revolver, and was considered a strong Nationalist, but was opposed to the Invincibles. He denounced Carey when the latter turned informer, and declared he would not shoot but would burn him by inches. He went to the Cape to reek his fortune, because he considered America played out. He had never seen Carey before taking passage, and he had no idea the informer was on board the Kinfauns Castle when he embarked. The defense will probably be that Carey tried to shoot the prisoner, who wrenched the revolver away and used it to protect his own life. It is now said that O'Donnell's brother, who is now in Ireland, will endeavor to obtain the services of A. M. Sullivan, M. P., to conduct the defense. The Call endeavors to apologize for it at this time on the ground that the Conclave week interfered so with the Mechanics' Institute that it was compelled to clash with the State Fair. This is not the fact. There has only been one Conclave held in San Francisco enacted, and by petitions, on the other hand, to prevent such a consummation. When the Convention net and nominated him, and he was brought upon the stage, white and trembling, to accept the benor, his friends expected a scene. It was almost a minacle that it did not occur. The challenge to a joint debate came in such a way that it would have been cowardly to have refused. He, with a very husby voice, and strength which should have been husbanded for offictal duties, went forth to an unequal contest. The fall he had received at Council Bluffs Saturday, which efforts have been made to belittle, is nothing but a return of the old complaint. Another one was experienced at Harlan Monday, when the Governor fell upon the platform of a railway depot, inflicting a scalp wound by contact with a stone foundation. The remarkable feature of the whole case is that these attacks have been carefully k pt from publication.

San Francisco, September 19th.—The first important conference of railroad managers over held in California begins to morrow. The people of this coast are generally interested in it, and will eagerly watch for any results that affect them. All of the great trunk lines west of the 'M ssouri river will be represented. The business that will come before the Conference cannot be fully ascertained, but it may be stated that a question in which the public considers itself deeply interested will be raised, namely, the question of pooling business going overland from the East or from the West, As far as can be ascertained, this is the most important business and leaves a twelve month hence without obtaining an interest in the place, but in the meantime exercises as much control as the mechanic whose life is spent in the town, whose homestead is compromised by taxation, and whose whole fortune hangs isnd from the East of from the West, As far as can be ascertained, this is the most important business that will be discussed, and there is no intimation that business of any other character is certain to come up. The main and only legitimate purpose of a Court in trying and deciding a lawsuit is to do justice—legal justice, of course—to the parties to that suit. It is not its duty to lay down rules for the supposed benefit of other parties to future suits, or to undertake to deal in nice distinctions, delicate definitions and abstruse legal points not necessary to the determination of the case in hand. And particularly should these things not be indulged in where they would take the shape of instructions to a jury. When a case is tried with a jury there are generally and abstruss legal points not necessary to the determination of the case in hand. The number composing the troupe is sufficient for a small regiment, and all have parts in the performance of the company when upon the stage, and none are given in other than a superior manner. The present troupe is not the one of the game name which appeared here some time since, but is a larger part of the same company, the troupe being divided into two formidable sections, but under the same general management. The performance this evening can be best described by saying that the plot "is without form and void," and that a stage full of end men will be let loose upon the audience regardless of the insecurity of buttons or the minor considerations. The evening closes with the roaring farce of "The Dudes" Ball," which should be witnessed by every dude, as it will be a most faithful reproduction of that much renowned specimen's accomplishments. THE NEW WATER ORDINANCE.

Raising and Some Lowering of Rates-A Practical Raise Along the Whole Line. The Trustees have adopted a new schedule of water rates, and it is now being published as required by law. In most respects the ordinance is objectionable, and will visit upon many people which were made last season at a good figure. There lished yesterday:

SUGGESTIONS CONCERNING THE STATE FAIR.

a year. It is fair to say that for very small families the new schedule reduces rates. That is to say, two persons in a house now pay $1 per month, or $3 per quarter; under the new schedule they will pay 50 cents a month, or $1.50 per quarter. But five persons in a family now pay $1, or $3 per quarter, and under the new schedule will have to pay $1.25 per month, or $3.75 per quarter. No one objects to the reduction on the single couple, but there should be no increase to the family of five. As a rule, the householder with a large family is least able to pay a high rate, and hence the new schedule reduces the rate to those most able to pay, and increases the tax to those least able. Some of the peculiarities of EDS. RECORD-UNION: There seems to be a good leal of fault found with the management of the State Agricultural Society, and probably in many instances without sufficient cause. It is hardly to be xpected that everybody can be suited, for no matter how faithfully committees may labor, some exhibitor is sure to be dissatisfied. It is the duty of every citizen to aid in making the annual fair a suecess, and the writer makes the following suggestions in the hope that they will be kindly received and carefully considered: First, select careful entry clerks and require them to acquaint themselves so thoroughly with the premium lists to be able immediately to decide in which department and class each entry belongs. Secondly, choose competent judges for each department before the fair commences; notify them of the choice and ask them to signify their acceptance; the tender of a complimentary ticket for such service would not be in bad taste. Lastly, place over each department, and especially theact for successful and especially the art department and especially the art department at the Pavilion, a Superintendent who is not directly interested in a large number of the exhibits therein. If these suggestions be headed the Board will hear fewer complaints.

This is a new charge and booily increase. A family of six persons must pay $1.50 for water for domestic purposes alone, but the saloon proprietor who supplies from 100 to 300 customers daily, maintains a lavatory and a water closet, washes vast quantities of glassware, and probably runs a kitchen for the lunch table, pays no more. SPECIAL MENTION-PETALUHA INCU-BATOR.

During Fair week the Petaluma Incubator, manufactured by I. L. Dias, of Petaluma, made one of the best di plays that could be seen in the Pavillon. Mr. Dias had five machines in the main hall, besides the one that was locked up, competing for the gold | September 10-Harriet Sampson, 53 years; Wash medal. Nearly 2,000 chickens were hatched during the week, and the process of hatching was so plainly visible that it needed no explanation. Mr. Dias also had several brooders or "mothers," to which the chickens are transferred from the incubator. The elegant display made, and to many the novelty of the machine made the exhibit a very attractive onc. The Petaluma Incubator, unlike many others, and to meet the popular demand, is manufactured in all sizes, from a capacity of 30 eggs to one of 650 eggs. To any one who critically examined the two ma chines that were in competition for the Society's gold medal, it would be almost unnecessary to say that the Petaluma won the prize, but how easily is not generally known, and therefore the following report of the committee is appended: "We, th amined the same with reference to the percentage of hatch, and report as follows: Out of 187 eggs placed in each machine, the Petaluma Incubator batched 154 chickens, or 82 per cent.; and the Golden Gate Incubator batched 109 chicks, or 58 per

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocca, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until trong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maiadies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nour-labed frame."—[Civil Service Gazette
